It's a cruel irony that the more successful we are in deploying renewables, the harder they are to integrate it into the grid. Current methods for procuring clean energy match supply and demand over a year and large geographical boundaries, resulting in a disconnect between carbon accounting and grid realities and failing to address the hardest hours of decarbonization.

TAG Energy Solutions's Tweets

TAG Energy Solutions produces large diameter tubulars and constructs foundations, monopiles, tripods, jackets and transition pieces for the renewables industry.
