ST. CROIX — Officials cut the ribbon at the Petronella Solar Farm on Tuesday, bringing a new wave of renewable energy to the island, which is experiencing rolling blackouts due.

ST. CROIX — Officials cut the ribbon at the Petronella Solar Farm on Tuesday, bringing a new wave of renewable energy to the island, which is experiencing rolling blackouts due.

With the growing intensity of storms in the Caribbean, resilient energy infrastructure now plays a crucial role in the Caribbean's transition to a reliable, clean power system. The Donoe solar farm in St. Thomas, U.S Virgin Islands was originally built in 2015 but sustained significant damage during the 2017 hurricane season.

Community projects include electric transportation, solar power interconnection, wind energy potential, wildfire preparedness, home heat pumps and weatherization retrofits, and microgrids and battery storage, among other solutions.

The Puerto Rican islands of Vieques and Culebra will study the feasibility of achieving energy independence and resilience using rooftop and community solar power to provide the islands renewable energy. The islands will work with ETIPP partners to conduct modeling and analysis to understand the full potential of decentralized solar when .

The development of the four solar-fueled power systems will set the stage to scale the Family Islands solar program across the island chain's outlying islands, as well as contribute to the Bahamas achieving a national goal of renewable energy resources meeting 30% of electricity needs by 2030¹.
